Step Up to Leadership focuses on developing essential leadership skills needed by all ages for success in life. Through a wide variety of activities, youth can identify their own leadership skills; learn to build on their strengths and those of teammates; acquire competencies in communication, group process, relationship building, planning and organizing, diversity, assessment, and service learning; apply leadership skills to real life experiences (authentic leadership opportunities); and learn to influence and support others in a positive manner toward a common goal.

4-H and Schools: A Great Partnership!

4-H is a youth development program of Penn State Cooperative Extension. It is a nonformal education program for youth between the ages of 8 and 19.

4-H projects are offered to youth through community clubs, project clubs, and special interest groups, as enrichment to school curricula, and in the 4-H Afterschool program. Projects are based on research, and many help to support the Pennsylvania Department of Education Academic Standards.

This publication is available in alternative media on request.

Penn State is committed to affirmative action, equal opportunity, and the diversity of its workforce.
