When temperature and humidity rise together, the chance of heat stress on grow-finish pigs increases (adapted from Livestock Industry Facilities and Environment: Heat Stress Indices for Livestock, Iowa State University, 2002).